Rihanna Hilary Beckles,Heather D. Russell,2015 Rihanna is arguably the most commercially successful Caribbean artist in history She is Barbadian and has been unwavering in publicly articulating her national and regional belonging Still there have been varied responses to Rihanna s ascendancy among both Barbadians and the wider Caribbean community The responses reveal as much about our own national and regional anxieties as they do about the artist herself The boundary transgressing cultural icon Rihanna is subject to anxieties about her body language and latitude from her global audiences as well however the essays in this collection purposely seek to de centre the dominance of the Euro American gaze focusing instead on considerations of the Caribbean artist and her oeuvre from a Caribbean postcolonial corpus of academic inquiry This collection brings together US and Caribbean based scholars to discuss issues of class gender sexuality race culture and economy Using the concept of diasporic citizenship as a theoretical frame the authors intervene in current questions of national and transnational circuits of exchange as they pertain to the commoditization and movement of culture knowledge values and identity The contributors approach the subjects of Rihanna globalization gender and sexuality commerce transnationalism Caribbean regionalism and Barbadian national identity and development from different disciplinary and at times radically divergent perspectives At the same time they collectively work through the limitations possibilities and promise of our best Caribbean imaginings
